PASTOR'S PEN

An Advice for Lent: How to Respond in Times of Temptation

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

We must never enter into a dialogue with the enemy. Rather, we must enter into a dialogue with the Word of God who desires to speak to us, who desires to lead us and guide us and sustain us and protect us...

In the Garden of Eden, we saw how Eve entered into a dialogue with the enemy and was defeated. Mary, on the other hand, entered into a dialogue with the Word of God and fulfilled God's plan. She pondered on the angel's greeting. That word 'pondered' in Greek is the word 'dialogue.'

Jesus never entered into a dialogue with the enemy. In fact, he refuted his proposals by quoting and by claiming the Word of God. He said, "It is written man does not live on bread alone, but from every word that comes from the mouth of God."

The Lord invites you to come to Him whenever you feel weary and find life burdensome... In the Bible, there's some variation of "Do not be afraid" at least 365 times, so at least once for every day of the year. Which is kind of consoling, because it means the Lord wants us to come to Him whenever we're feeling weary, tempted, and we find life burdensome.

But at the same time, it's a humbling thing because it means we're always freaking out, right? And the idea, here, that I want to convey is that we're called to get used to that – We're the ones that always need to receive, which would ordinarily be a cause for concern, except for the fact that God is real, God is our father, and He's the one who always gives protection from the enemy. And we can rely on that, we can count on that.

United in prayer,

Fr. Joshy Mathew
